LIFE IS AN ADVENTURE!

No matter what the challenge, June Durr has seen first-hand that a mindset of optimism and humor will solve almost anything. As an entrepreneur, turning negatives into positives is a goal strategy reflected in her life-long motto: "Don't follow where the path leads; instead find a new path and blaze new trails!"

June believes you can always re-create your individual statement. Making a statement is about consistent personal and professional packaging and thinking outside the boundaries. You'll be amazed at the discoveries on the continuing upward journey of how we are so wonderfully made. We are called to make a difference and make a personal decision to bloom wherever we are planted despite the circumstances. All that's needed are the right creative tools, persistence to fight resistance, and faith!

"Faithful is He who calls you, He will bring it to pass." 1 Thessalonians 5:24

MOTIVATIONAL SPEAKING, AND PROFESSIONAL PACKAGING

Growing up in a foster home, June fell in love with the versatility of fashion accessories that liberated her from her circumstances and limited wardrobe. It raised her self-esteem and allowed her to fit in with her peers. With modest means, she learned creative self expression and fashion survival which opened many educational and career doors. As a former fashion model, June discovered and embraced her fashion style that was classic with a contemporary attitude. Over the years she has passed on some of her vital "tools of the trade" through Professional Packaging and Personal Branding Seminars, including The 4 P's of Professionalism, hands-on Fashion and Accessory Work-shops including Social and Professional Etiquette for women, teens and graduates.

FANFARE COMMENTS

June is refreshing in her perspective and enthusiasm. Nothing seems to dampen her spirits. She is authentic in her faith and her confidence in God is contagious as she speaks. You will be blessed to hear her, and you will come away strengthened in your faith.

MARKETING PARTNERSHIPS

Over the years June's business strategies, combined with wit and wisdom, have created many opportunities to pair-up and maximize unique partner strengths. This has resulted in long-term client relationships. Some of her programs included professional dress and career workshops for women and Southern California's first shopping center teen board with Teen Magazine. She was the first to train and include physically challenged teens and young adults in fashion shows and advertising. Her love for children was evidenced by establishing a children's theater for the performing arts in a shopping mall, and children's manners and etiquette classes.

In 1987, June founded the popular San Bernardino Symphony Debs, a one-of-a-kind high school music appreciation program that was later expanded to include the Red Tie Guys through the dedicated efforts of patrons Earleen and Donald Dudley. June has also coordinated and commented annual fashion shows and professional workshops with many business, professional philanthropic organizations, including Cal-State University Marketing Department and School of Business, University of Redlands Town & Gown, National Charity League Ticktockers, The San Bernardino Symphony, Soroptimist International and many others.

WRITING AND PUBLIC RELATIONS

June is working on a series of children's books that address medical and social issues under The Adventures of Malia and Violet Mouse named after her granddaughters. The first book, Grandma's Amazing Arm, published in 2015. Twice a cancer survivor, her personal focus is creating awareness for people with special needs under a campaign she calls "Out on a Limb." June's writing has appeared in a variety of media periodical publications. She has scripted interviews for radio and television for celebrities, business and non-profit clients. June is a contributing author to Making the Blue Plate Special, by Florence & Marita Littauer and Lauren Littauer Briggs.
